Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 05 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold and windy. Wintry showers in the north and west.

Today:
A cold start, with patchy cloud throughout, and sunny spells. Wintry showers through the day, largely confined to the north of the country and western coastal areas. Windy, feeling noticeably bitter along coasts. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Tonight will see wintry showers continue for most, though skies remain clear in the southeast of the country. Widespread frost developing. Snow showers heaviest along western coastal areas. Feeling cold. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Tuesday:
The wintry showers continue, turning widespread from midday, bringing snow to many across the country. Patchy cloud allows for some sunny spells, though still feeling cold in the wind. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Largely cold and wintry through this period, with widespread frosts. Some rain and snow Wednesday, but largely dry Thursday, with winds strengthening. Rain followed by widespread wintry outbreaks on Friday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.